Date : 23/01/2008

As part of a project to extend transportation in the eastern part of the Northern City and support the growing number of commuters, METROPROJEKT partnered with Smalt and PolyVision to line the Prosek Metro Station with colorful Standard 1 CeramicSteel panels. The design, which resembles that of a metro line map and was produced using the art of screen printing, offers passengers a modern transit space that offers a clean and safe environment.
